

MIDDLEBURG.

—Mrs. Mary Albright, of Brodhead, is visiting her aged father, Mr. J. S. Coulter, of this vicinity. Mrs. J. M. Durham is visiting relatives at Campbellsville.

—There were 25 additions to the Christian church at Yosemite during the meeting which did not close till Tuesday night of last week instead of Monday night, as we reported.

—The meeting at the Christian church closed last week with 17 additions. The meeting did much good that will be lasting. Bro. Montgomery went from here to Liberty to commence a meeting.

—A. O. Watkins knocked Bryant Johnson in the head with a club at Yosemite Saturday. We did not learn the cause of the difficulty, but Johnson is said to be a bad fellow and it is presumed that he needed it, otherwise Mr. Watkins, who is a peaceable man, would not have struck him.

—The law and order league which did so much good in suppressing the liquor traffic in this community some two years ago and which has been sleeping for a time, has been revived again. And woe unto him who attempts to carry on a traffic in spirits that will intoxicate.

—P. H. Taylor defeated J. C. Lay for the nomination for county superintendent in the republican convention at Liberty Saturday. We did not attend, but from the reports brought back by some of the republicans themselves, it must have been one of the most disgraceful primaries ever held in the county. Whiskey flowed freely as water; several fights took place on the streets and much bad feeling was engendered, which places the poor old party in bad shape for the very hard fight that is before it.

—A committee of three members was appointed to meet with Rev. M. A. Middleton Sunday at Grove to receive into the church a number of persons whom he had baptized some time ago, the object being to organize a mission church out there. Bro. M. failed to come, and perhaps it is best that he did. A number of Campbellites were there and informed the committee that no such an organization was wanted there, and that if any one wished to unite with the Baptist church, he would have to go to Middleburg and do so. This was a very disappointing result, but it is better than a mission church which would have been a source of trouble and expense to the community.

DANVILLE.

—Logan Denny and Will Woodcock have gone to the World's Fair.

—John and Homer Banghman sold to Monte Fox a bunch of hogs averaging about 275 pounds at 5c.

—A draft for $2,000 has been received for Mrs. Frank Shipman, whose husband was a Knight of Honor.

—Assessor G. H. Hocker will be a candidate for re-election and so will John B. Harris, whom he only beat three votes before.

—A jury gave James Daugherty $700 damages against the L. & N. because he proved that his family contracted malarial fever from a pond the company built near his house.

—DEATHS.—Mrs. Scott McFerran died at the residence of Dr. W. B. Burke. She had only been married a year. W. H. Stout, of San Antonio, Texas, who was on a visit to Mrs. Wm. Stout, of this city, died Saturday.

—A few weeks ago a shot from a hunter's gun some distance away struck Rev. J. W. Lynch in his left eye. At first the injury was thought to be trivial, but it began to give trouble till he had to go to Cincinnati to consult a specialist and he has since been unable to preach.

—W. J. Steele, of Versailles, was defeated by the town in the suit for $5,000 damages which he brought against the city for false imprisonment, he having been arrested in Versailles and brought here, it will be remembered, upon a warrant charging him with gambling. It was a case of mistaken identity.

—Following is the program of the County Convention of the Christian church at Halls Gap, Saturday, October 7th:

1. Devotional Exercises, Joe Severance, Jr.
2. Welcome Address, P. W. Carter.
3. Response, W. N. Briney.
4. Willful Ignorance of Revealed Truth, Joseph Ballou.
5. The Superintendent in the School, C. E. Tate.
6. Importance of Lord's day Meetings, W. L. Williams.
7. The Joy of the Evangelistic Field, J. G. Livingston.
8. Appointment of Committees.
9. Dinner.
10. Power of the Word, Stephen Collier, Sr.
11. Address on Missions, Bro. Farley.
12. Report of Evangelist.
13. Report of Committees.
14. Adjournment.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Little Dell Jones has the diphtheria.

—Twenty Arabian peddlers have passed through this county during the last ten days.

—Mrs. Nesbitt is receiving considerable encouragement in her race for school superintendent.

—The majority of births in this county during September occurred on 7th, 11th, 17th and 27th.

—Jack Conn, B. H. Joplin and W. T. McClure, of this county, secured adjoining claims, all good ones, near the town of Perry, Cherokee strip. J. W. Marler was not pleased with his claim, threw it up and came home.

—Miss Lela Painter, a little beauty of Brodhead was here Tuesday. Mrs. Cleo Brown leaves for Indianapolis Sunday for a two weeks' stay. Misses Lucille Joplin and Margaret Spradlin have returned from the World's Fair. Col. R. G. Williams will enter a Louisville law school next week. Misses May Miller, Carrie Myers and Mattie May Adams are visiting Garrard relatives.

—Circuit Court.—The case of Wallace Laswell for killing Granville Adams in 1887; the defendant was acquitted. About $700 in fines was assessed during the term. R. Sowder was fined $100, liquor selling, Alfred Johnson, ditto. Mike Pitman malicious shooting and wounding, $50. W. Newcomb, rape, acquitted. S. L. Durham granted new trial on judgment at May term, on charge of selling liquor. Durham has been breaking rock on the streets since May and it appears that he is sufficiently punished, the grand jury returned 62 indictments. Two for willful murder, three for malicious shooting, disorderly houses, concealed weapons and liquor selling. The grand jury adjourned Monday.

—Last Friday evening two negro tramps, one claiming Pittsburg, Pa., and the other as Lexington being their homes, murdered an Arabian peddler on the highway one mile south of this place. One of them, Wm. Henry, was captured the next night in a box car at West Barnstead. The other, Albert Berry, was caught at Pineville. Berry had stolen a horse from ex-Sheriff Cavins, near Barboursville, and ridden into Pineville. He had robbed a farm house and changed his clothing, leaving his old ones at the farm house. Berry made a strong resistance. When brought here he was identified by his partner in crime. Both confessed and put up the lame plea of self defense. They say they met the peddler in the road, turned back with him and got into an altercation and the peddler ran his hand into his bosom as if to draw a weapon, whereupon Berry shot him. The dead man, Feris Hajers, was from Mt. Lebanon Province, between Jerusalem and Damascus. The grand jury returned an indictment against the negroes Monday. Their trial began Wednesday morning and all the evidence taken and was argued that night and given to the jury this (Thursday) morning. Had circuit court not been in session and a speedy trial promised, the negroes would no doubt have been mobbed.

(Special to the Interior Journal.)
Mr. VERNON, Sept. 28.—A life sentence was given the negroes for murdering the peddler. Considerable dissatisfaction is manifested by the public over the verdict. Nothing short of hanging was expected. Court adjourned at 11:30 to-day.

We Take It Back.

(Editor Interior Journal.)

My attention is called to your comments on the work of the fire department on the night of the 23d, in which it is stated that "the fire company, except perhaps the hook and ladder squad, deserve commendation." &c. It is true the h. and l. squad did not come up ringing any bells or blowing any horns, but were on hand and at work with the hose men from first to last, and I don't think they deserve any adverse criticism. There are nine in the hook and ladder squad; one was in Chicago representing the I. J.; one at Wayneburg on doubtful business; one in bed and fast asleep and six working on the fire. At all former fires the h. and l. squad has been on the ground with ladders up when water was turned on, notwithstanding the fact that they are more widely scattered than any other squad and have twice as much weight to pull, with fewer men to pull it than either hose company.

Respectfully, W. B. PENNY,
Capt. H. & L. Co.

—The officials of the Kansas City, St. Joseph and Council Bluffs R. R., got an inkling that an effort would be made to hold up one of their trains near St. Joseph, Mo., so they sent out a "dummy" train armed with a score of good men on the passenger's schedule time, which was halted as expected. The robbers six in number, began to climb on but were met with a volley of bullets. Two of the would-be robbers were killed and the other four captured.

—An L. & N. passenger train was ditched by wreckers Wednesday night near Scranton, Miss. Two or three persons were reported to have been killed and many injured.

ROWLAND.

—We have the data of a very interesting bear hunt, in which Uncle Sid Myers was the hero, which we propose to offer next week to be copyrighted.

—Green Spoonamore has started a butcher shop in this city and sells good steak at three pounds for a quarter. How is it that others can not do likewise?

—We hope that Col. Welch will consent to run for Senator, since he would make a good one and represent the people in an able and fearless manner.

—Many of our people regretted to hear of the killing at Dripping Springs, but such things will continue until carrying concealed weapons is made a felony, which it should be, as it implies malice, a necessary ingredient of murder.

—On last Friday 16 students in the school engaged in a debate. The question was, "Has the Printing Press been more useful to Mankind than the Steam Engine?" The arguments were far better than had been anticipated and the committee on decision could not agree.

—Fox Dudderar, of Louisville, had better be looking after his interests in this section. Mr. W. C. Tharp, of Stanford, has moved to our town. Judge T. L. Shelton has taken charge of his hotel again and J. W. Carrier has moved to Darstown and is running a restaurant here.

—John Dudderar is quite ill. Dennis Kelly, traveling engineer for the L. & N., is stopping at J. W. Carrier's. J. R. Carter, of Lebanon Junction, is at same place. Miss Maggie Stevens is threatened with malarial fever. John Barnett, of Jellico, is visiting his brother Robert.

—On Monday night several pistol shots were fired in the L. & N. yards, the bandsters were pushed from the bridge at the south end, several lamps were shot out, the workmen's chest was turned over and other depredations were committed. Don't know whether it was done to intimidate workmen or because of a grudge against the company, but one thing is true, such outlaws should be brought to justice.

—On Monday the car repairs at this place left in line with two other workmen on the L. & N. and abandoned work. Tuesday morning they were induced to go back to work on the promise that no cars would be sent to them which had been taken to the Louisville shops. Tuesday evening 25 cars came in from Louisville. Wednesday morning the whole crew, about a dozen in number, stepped out again and declared their intention to join the INTERIOR JOURNAL base ball nine. The yards and shops are quiet at present.

HUSTONVILLE.

—The Presbyterian parsonage which is being remodelled is nearing completion and will soon be ready for occupancy.

—The younger set stormed Misses Bertha and Erna Morse Friday evening. Dancing was indulged in and ices and cake was served.

—Miss Sallie Jenkins has resumed dress-making for the fall and winter seasons. She has engaged rooms at the Weatherford Hotel.

—Our community was indeed rejoiced at the rains of Sunday and Monday. The continued drought and very warm days had become almost distressing.

—Dr. Wm. C. Young, President of Centre College, delivered an interesting discourse to a large congregation at the Presbyterian church here Sunday morning.

—Prof. M. G. Thomson and wife spent Friday until Monday with friends at Mt. Sterling. Miss Arnold, of Pleasant Hill, Mo., is the guest of her uncle, T. J. Robinson. Miss Helen Reid, who has been visiting Paducah and the World's Fair, returned home Wednesday. Miss Hopper, of Perryville, is with her sister Mrs. W. W. Bruce. Misses Emma Prewitt and Minnie Dinwiddie are now in Denver, Col., after a sojourn in Chicago. Miss Bettie Logan is at home from Longview, Ala. Mrs. J. W. Weatherford and daughter, Miss Agnes, and son, Arch, after spending a pleasant summer with relatives here, have left for their home at Ennis, Texas.

HUBBLE.

—Henry Walters and others sold a lot of lambs to Wm. Moreland at 3c. G. P. Bright bought a lot of hogs weighing 100 to 150 pounds of Mrs. B. F. Engleman at 5c. R. L. Hubble sold some heifers and cows to Wm. Moreland at 2 1/2c. The Rankin boys, of Wayne county, bought about 40 mule colts in this and Garrard county at $25 to $40.

—Dr. Cox, of Mackville, came up with Prof. Joe Robinson last Saturday to look at the Swope farm, with the view of buying and locating to practice his profession. Mrs. Amanda Lay has been on the sick list, but is improving. Miss Hattie Robinson is visiting friends in Jessamine county. Mr. Ed Austin will move to Rowland soon. We hate to give him up, but hope he will do well at his future home. Ed Miller will move back to his farm again, is the report now. The people here are all glad that Bro. Arnold will be with us another year.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—The demerits instructed for Col. Welch for Senator, Monday.

—The doctors composing the new pension board have rented suite of rooms in the Owsley block and fitted them up as offices.

—H. A. Burdett's residence, five miles from Lancaster, burned Monday, after catching from a defective fire; loss $2,000, insurance $1,500.

—The republican county committee met Monday and nominated J. Hunt McMurtry for school superintendent and Wright Kelley for the legislature. Kelley is a mountain man. The democrats have made no nominations yet but will do so soon.

—George Palmer, W. K. Shugars and W. S. Ferguson are at the World's Fair this week. Col. W. O. Bradley is back from the Mt. Vernon court. W. B. Mason and family are attending the big Fair at Chicago. George Hackley and sister, Miss Mamie, were visiting friends here this week.

—While riding a young horse Wednesday Chief of Police Hamilton was thrown to the ground badly hurting his shoulder and back. Only last Sunday his wife was hurt the same way by being thrown from a buggy. We are glad to say that neither is seriously hurt and that both are rapidly recovering.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—The personal in the last issue of this paper telling of the illness of Leslie B. Wilson was the first intimation that most people even in town had of his condition. At the time it was written he was not thought to be seriously ill, but he grew rapidly worse that night and at 3:30 A. M., Tuesday he was dead, after less than a week's illness. The doctors think that the accumulation of typhoid poison burst like a bomb and caused death to come so suddenly. After supper Monday night he told his Aunt Martha Paxton who had raised him almost from an infant that he was going to die, but even her watchful eye had up to that time discovered no signs of immediate dissolution. He asked for Rev. Ben Helm, at whose house he died, and after he had prayed with him told him that it was all well with his soul, that he had not always lived as he should, but he trusted in a good Lord to forgive him and was sure that he had done so. He then asked Mr. Helm to see that certain debts which he named in detail were paid out of his estate and the residue paid over to "mother," as he called Mrs. Paxton. Mr. J. B. Paxton, coming in at that time, his request was put in writing and made in the form of a will. The parting scene with "mother" was very affecting. He told her how much he appreciated her life long devotion to him and how much he loved her, asked her to forgive everything that he had done wrong, sent messages to a number of his young friends concluding with the injunction to meet him in heaven and requested her to have him buried as near to "father," Mr. James Paxton, as she could and see that his grave was kept green. With choking voice she promised to attend to all, and shortly afterward he lapsed into unconsciousness and soon all was over. Leslie was the son of Benjamin and Annie Wilson, his mother being a Huffman, and he was born 23 years ago. His father was kicked to death by a horse and his mother died of the cholera at Lebanon, both before he realized their love. He was then taken by Mr. and Mrs. Paxton, who treated and loved him as one of their own children and he would never have known that they were not his own parents had he not been told. He joined the church at an early age and it is the general opinion of all who knew him well that a better boy never lived in this section. At his request Mr. Helm, who he said had done him more good spiritually than any other preacher, delivered the funeral sermon, being assisted in the service by Rev. W. A. Slaymaker. The services were held at the Presbyterian church at 10 A. M. Wednesday and then a large number of friends saw the body consigned to earth in Buffalo Cemetery.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to thank those who so kindly lent a helping hand during our late bereavement as well as those who have helped us by kind words and wishes. We shall never forget them and will always pray that the good Lord will bless them for their goodness.

—The "rocking stone," in Sullivan county, N. Y., weighs 40 tons and is so evenly balanced on a table of rock that it can be easily set in motion by the pressure of a finger, yet so solidly laid that the combined strength of 100 men without artificial appliances could not displace it.

SENATOR STEWART of the rotten borough of Nevada, made a spectacle of himself in speaking against the repeal of the Sherman bill by a brutal and coarse assault on President Cleveland, because as he charges the executive had tried to use his position to influence Congressional action, thereby attempting to destroy the independence of the three co-ordinate branches of the government. He referred to the president as "this man with that record, neither educated at a college nor among the people," and tried to be funny by referring to his career as assistant teacher to the blind, clerk, sheriff, mayor, and practicing lawyer. The assault but further emphasized the fact that money doesn't make the man, nor does owning a silver mine make one a statesman. Stewart bought his office and now wants to make the government pay him back by forcing his product on it. Such a creature can not hurt Grover Cleveland no matter what he says of him.

PRETTY Miss Eliza Nash, of Calloway county, did not think her complexion what it should be and she took arsenical powder to improve it. Ordinary doses did not have the desired effect fast enough, so Wednesday she took a double one. If a marble whiteness was what she was after she got it, for in 24 hours her body was stiff and cold in death while her spirit flitted among the angels, whose faces like the land they are in are fairer than day. That is we hope it did, but it is the safest plan for girls to bear the complexion they have than take poison and fly to what they know not of. Bristle and smoke are not conducive to a beauty of skin.

The Massachusetts democrats, believing that there is luck in a name, nominated J. E. Russell by acclamation to succeed Gov. W. E. Russell, the present incumbent. The platform asserts supreme confidence in Mr. Cleveland, favors the immediate repeal of the Sherman bill, congratulates the people on the complete overthrow of the McKinleyism and demands the passage of a well-considered bill, in which the tariff shall be reduced to a revenue basis. The party is in good fighting shape and the prospects are that Mr. Russell will be elected, even if the State did go republican at the presidential election very largely.

The populists have nominated Thomas S. Pettit for the legislature from Daviess county, but Tom Tit will not be given a further opportunity to make a nuisance and ass of himself. The democrats have nominated Joseph Noe and they are going to elect him and keep Tommy at home, from whence he should be permitted no more to escape. He was to the constitutional convention and the legislature what Stewart is to the U. S. Senate, a rip roaring, rantankerous fraud and obstructionist.

The dry and prosy scenes of the Senate were enlivened for a short time Wednesday by what is spoken of as an exciting debate between Senators Walcott and Gorman. The former accused the latter as being a stealer for the repeal bill, whereupon he accused the Colorado statesman, who is a republican, of eavesdropping at the doors of the committee rooms. Both Senators afterwards modified their language and grim visaged war hid its ugly front.

The Court of Appeals has found after many years that it has no right, except in civil cases, to wait 30 days to issue the mandates of the court, so hereafter when a criminal decision has been passed upon the mandate will issue immediately. The discovery was made on an application by the attorney general for a mandate at once in a case where there was danger of a prison delivery if the convict was not at once brought to the penitentiary.

COL. WELCH having declined to accept the Senatorial nomination in this district it devolves upon Lincoln county to name another man. This she can very easily do. She has a woods full of good men for the position. Hon. W. H. Miller is highly spoken of, while other men who would do credit to the district would accept the nomination and carry the banner to victory.

SENATOR WORTHAM, the author of the anti-gambling bill, says that Judge Sauley's construction of it with reference to progressive euchre is right. He adds that there is no difference between playing for a prize in a parlor than for a drink in a bar-room so far as the violation of the law is concerned. "Judge Sauley is a bold, nifty man." Now let the galled jades wince.

The twelfth annual reunion of the gallant Orphan Brigade drew 185 of the veterans to Versailles, where the fatted calf had been killed and every thing else done for their enjoyment. Senator Blackburn delivered the address of welcome and Ex-Congressman Caldwell responded. The ranks are growing thinner each year and it won't be many till the last of the brave old fellows are called to cross the river and rest under the shade of the trees. Russellville was chosen as the place of the next meeting.

NEWSY NOTES.

—M. J. Cain has been appointed postmaster at Waterloo, Pulaski county.
—The Russian steamer Alphonso Zeebecke burned with a loss of 60 lives.
—Joe Williams shot and killed Henry Yates at Winchester in a quarrel over $2.
—Col. E. H. Gaither, of Harrodsburg, has been re-elected Colonel of the Second Regiment.
—There were 18 new cases of yellow fever reported at Brunswick, Ga., Wednesday and 52 under treatment.
—W. O. Riley, son of the hotel keeper, was either murdered or committed suicide in Miss Claxton's bad house at Jellico.
—Jockey Henry Fields was killed by being knocked from his horse by another, while exercising on the Lexington race track.
—Only about one person in three of the vast number that made a mad rush into the Cherokee strip for a town lot or a 160 acre farm got one.
—Jink Renfro, Hoe Wright and Wm. Shoemaker were all horribly burned by the explosion of gas in a well 160 feet deep near Harrodsburg.
—Union county democrats have nominated a strong team for the legislature, Cromwell Adair for Senator and Ignatius Spalding for representative.
—George Delaney, of Union county, implicated in the murder of Miss Abbie Oliver, and sentenced to the penitentiary for life, was refused a new trial.

—Figures prepared in the office of the Auditor of the State show that the per diem alone to the members and employees of the late legislature was $469,000.

—By the collision of two express trains on the Chicago & Grand Trunk railroad two people were instantly killed and several were probably fatally wounded.

—All the Chicago passenger trains now carry armed men to resist the bandits who have become so bold of late, and some of them look like moving arsenals.

—Monroe Stevens, a farmer of Garrard, while raising a barn was instantly killed by the falling of a post, which struck him back of the head, breaking his neck.

—There is a good deal of bustle and activity about the magic mushroom city traders and the assistant chief, operator of the Western Union were hit and seriously wounded.

—Nine men are reported to have been killed in the collision of a work train with a regular on the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad. The victims were railroad workmen.

—George Dixon, the champion feather weight pugilist, defeated Solly Smith at the Coney Island Athletic Club, knocking him out in the 7th round. The purse won amounted to $10,000.

—A work train on the Richmond division of the Kentucky Central was wrecked near Rensick's station. Five colored men who occupied one of the "boarders," were more or less injured.

—St. Joseph, Mo., suffered a million dollar fire which was caused by a lighted cigar being thrown on the fifth floor of Townsend, Wyatt & Emery's wholesale establishment. One bank burned but it was not the Saxton.

—The White Caps of Central Mississippi who are endeavoring to keep all cotton gins closed until the price reaches 10 cents a pound, are perpetrating outrages nightly, their methods instituting a reign of terror.

—Miss Jennie Wainwright, housekeeper at the Lancaster Hotel, Georgetown, has brought suit for damages in the sum of $10,000 against Prof. J. E. Harry, of Georgetown College, because his wife accused her of stealing her diamonds.

—At Lexington, this State, it is thought that the failure of the Granite State Bank at Exeter, N. H., will affect the Lexington Water Works Company. J. F. Putnam, president of the Lexington company, was also president of the Granite Bank.

—Insane on religion and drunk to boot Samuel Stothart, of Pittsburg, Pa., shot his wife to death and then did the right thing by blowing his own brains out. The pity is that he did not blow his own brains out and then try to exterminate his wife if it had to be done at all.

—The Hon. John D. Carroll, for the State, filed a bill of exceptions to the report of the commissioner of the Franklin circuit or fiscal court in the suit of the State against the Mason-Ford Co. The bill objects to every item of the report that disallows the State's claims against the ex-lessee.

—Wm. Rue & Son's stable at Danville has made 14 starts in trotting races this season and got first money 7 times, second money 3 times, third money 3 times and behind the money only once. With their show horses they have taken 77 premiums up to date. They go to Owensboro next week with six extra good ones.

—Lucile Rodney, of Galveston, Texas, won a wager of $5,000 by walking from her home to the World's Fair from May 16 to Aug. 1. She carried 30 lbs. of baggage and counted every railroad tie from Galveston to Chicago. In addition to that, she sold $500 worth of her photographs.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.

—Rev. W. E. Arnold will return in time to fill his pulpit Sunday.

—Rev. W. A. Slaymaker will preach to-night and to-morrow night preparatory to communion services at the Presbyterian church Sunday.

—It is Saturday night, 30th, that Eld J. G. Livingston is to preach at Halls Gap church, and not as stated. All the members are requested to attend.

—Rev. Dr. Talmage, in the course of his Sunday sermon, urged the celebration of the 2000th anniversary of the birth of Christ by great convention from all over the world in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City.

—Says the Paris-Kentuckian: "We felt especially proud of Rev. W. E. Arnold, as a Bourbon boy, as he would arise to speak in the conference, as he was always heard with due respect, he talking forcibly and just enough."

—The effort to re-organize the Christian Endeavor Society here resulted in the enrollment of 21 names, nearly all of them ladies. That's usually the case. The women are always first in every good word and work here and in the hereafter they will doubtless be in as large a majority among the redeemed.

—The Presbytery of Knoxville, in session at Chattanooga, adopted resolutions condemning in the strongest terms the alarming increase in mob violence and enjoining upon its ministers to do what they can to arrest this wide spread and increasing disregard of law; subverting the very foundation of good government and ministering to the most corrupt passions of human nature. Pastors were ordered to read the resolutions in full to their congregations.

FARM AND TRADE ITEMS.

—Giles Hawkins has been appointed postmaster at Burgin.

—Underwood Bros. sold to B. D. Robinson a bunch of fat hogs at 5½c.

—John Cash bought in the West End a bunch of 2-year-old cattle at 2½c.

—I have a few more Southdown bucks for sale and will also sell a few ewes. J. E. Bruce.

—Arion is credited with having gone a mile in 2:06. Pretty good for the "125,000 beauty."

—W. B. Kidd bought in Clark county 280 cattle, 1,425 to 1,600 pounds average, at 4 and 4½c.

—O. B. Perkins sold to Gover & Rankin Bros. 15 yearling and 2-year-old old mules at $55.

—Nicholas Block, of Louisville, committed suicide by hanging because his infant son died.

—Jos. Kindig, of Pennsylvania, bought in Mt. Sterling court day 48 mule colts at an average of $28.

—Shellback, a 200 to 11 shot, won at Gloucester, while a Clio colt lost at the wire at Gravesend at 150 to 1.

—J. Davis Reid sold to Simon Wehl, for Goldsmith, 100 export cattle, average 1,500 pounds, at 4c.—Mt. Sterling Gazette.

—McKinney Bros. bought of Richard Bibb yesterday 100 bushels of Irish potatoes at 40c and a lot of sweet potatoes at $1 a bushel.

—D. C. Terhune bought this week near Perryville several first-class mule colts at from $50 to $65, and a Jersey cow with a calf for $40.

—The Stanford Roller Mills have already bought 35,000 bushels of wheat and Mr. S. H. Baughman tells us he is paying 54 cents for it now.

—John Booth, of Bourbon county, sold in Cincinnati 11 hogsheads of good tobacco at prices ranging from 14½c to 22½c per pound, an average of over 19c.

—Monroe Salisbury offers to trot Directum, 2:06½, against any horse, mare or gelding for $10,000 a side. It is hoped that Nancy Hanks' owner will take him up.

—G. D. Boone has swapped his farm of 37 acres near Maywood to Mr. Center for his 66½ acres situated near A. F. Moberly's, on the Crab Orchard pike, giving him $700 to boot.

—Cooper & Benedict have sold the 25 Southdown bucks advertised in this paper at an average of $8.75. Those wishing to buy ewes of the same kind would do well to see them.

—Wm. Moreland bought of Sam M. Owens 16 fat hogs at 5½c; of F. M. Ware 19 of same at same price and of C. M. Spoonamore 32 averaging 180 pounds at 5c. Mr. Moreland also bought in the Hanging Fork neighborhood 103 lambs at 3c, which he shipped to Cincinnati and made some money on.

—The State T. H. B. Association offers $50,000 in prizes at their meeting beginning Oct. 7th and continuing until the 14th. THE WORLD'S FAIR AND AMERICAN RAILWAYS.

The Queen & Crescent Route, widely known as the road running the "Finest Trains in the South," is in the field to carry everybody from the South to the World's Fair at Chicago. No part of the Southern country is left uncared for by this great railway and its connections. The Through Car System is an admirable exposition of the wonderful capabilities of American railroading. From New Orleans Through Sleeping Cars run daily, morning and evening, carrying its passengers by Cincinnati or Louisville, as they may select.

From Shreveport, Vicksburg and Jackson another Through Sleeping Car Line comes to join and become a part of the magnificent Vastibled Through Trains, which, passing through Birmingham and the famous Wills Valley of Alabama, is joined at Chattanooga by the train from Jacksonville, Fla., Brunswick and Atlanta, Ga., over the E. T. V. & G. R. Y., and proceeds north over the beautiful Cincinnati Southern, through the grandest natural scenery and most attractive historical country in the world, to Oakdale, where another magnificent Pullman Car is received, coming from the Richmond & Danville system from Charleston, S. C., through Columbia, S. C., the beautiful French Broad country, and Asheville, C., and Knoxville, Tenn.

The time to Chicago is made so as to afford the most convenient hours for departures from the principal cities and arrivals in Chicago.

Passengers can purchase tickets good over one year north of the river, and returning via another if they desire a variable route without extra charge. Or they can go via Cincinnati, returning via Louisville, or vice versa.

Round-trip tickets on sale at reduced rates. Agents of the Chicago line will on frequent visits a looking up rooms or accommodations for visitors to the Fair.

Everything that an almost perfect system can devise to deserve the praise and patronage of the traveling public has been provided. SHE HAS HER FAULTS

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX DISCUSSES THE SUMMER GIRL.

The First and Most Important Defect in the Category is Selfishness—Then She is Often Lazy and Thoughtless—Thoughts
Worth Reading.

[Copyright, 1893, by American Press Association.]

HARMING as the summer girl is, she has her faults. To one who sees her sitting in a hammock, clothed in cool colors, swinging pretty feet and dispensing sweet smiles, this assertion seems a libel, but one who observes her day after day discovers the truth.

First and foremost in the category of her faults comes selfishness.

It is difficult to be unselfish on a cold winter day, with a blazing fire in the grate and warm garments protecting the body. But the severest test for an unselfish nature is a blazing August sun, with no breeze on land or sea, and only one hammock at command.

I have seen the summer girl retain this hammock a whole afternoon, lazily fanning herself as she swayed to and fro and sublimely conscious that half a dozen people besides herself might have found the position equally enjoyable. Thoughtlessness of others is a noticeable fault of the summer girl.

I chanced not long ago to see a bevy of six young ladies who had formed a sort of pleasure club at a summer resort, and who managed to extract a great deal of amusement out of their nameless environments.

Into their midst came a very sweet and pretty girl, one who was well known and respected in her city home.

She sat at the same table three times a day with the six other young ladies and slept under the same roof. They spoke with her pleasantly when they met, but it did not occur to them to try to make the days pleasant for her by inviting her to join them.

They were not in the least jealous or disagreeable girls. They were simply thoughtless.

The idea of bothering themselves about this girl did not suggest itself to them.

They saw her sitting about rather forlornly, but they were too occupied with their own plans to think of her.

Finally a mother of one of the young ladies took compassion upon the newcomer and called the attention of the bevy to her situation.

They took her into their midst and made her one of them and at once. But it seemed a great pity that they had not thought to do this before the mother suggested it.

Perhaps the most glaring faults of the summer girl are brought out by the opposite sex.

The girls who plan like a general before a campaign to avoid introducing their young men friends to other girls are as numerous as dandelions in May, and the girl who does introduce her beaux freely and generously is as rare as a summer resort as a white blackbird.

It is an odd and absurd idea, too, this of hoping to hold the attention of one or more men by such artifices.

I have observed it to be almost invariably the most admired and successful girl with men who does introduce them freely and fearlessly to her lady acquaintances.

The girl who has any understanding of men knows better than to try to keep them interested by force.

The girl who makes sport of the other girls' beaux is frequently found at the summer resort.

If Maud is proud and happy over the fact that Will has been down from town to visit her, the caustic girl pokes fun at Will's mustache and hair and accent and manner of walking. She likes to make Maud feel that under no stress of circumstances could she content herself with the attentions of a man like Will. Give her the chance, however, and you would find her ready to sacrifice her time to a man far less interesting than Will.

The "prinking" girl who makes everybody wait for her is another type always found at summer resorts. If a walk, a drive, a picnic or a party is on the tapis, the pretty prinker is always in arrears. Men, women, boats and even trains must wait for her while she pins up a stray hair, changes her stockings and rubs the powder rag over her nose again. And the queerest thing about it all is the pretty prinker looks exactly the same when she emerges from her room as when she entered it. Nobody can see that she has done anything to herself, yet all are conscious of irritation of mind and spirit by having had to wait for her.

It does not matter whether she has had five minutes or five weeks' notice—the prinker always has to be waited for. She does not realize it, of course, but it is a thoughtless disregard of the feelings and interests of others which actuates her. Once make her understand that she is sacrificing other people's time and pleasure to her vanity and I think she would reform, for the pretty prinker is usually a very good hearted girl and her fault only a bad habit.

The lazy summer girl is a most provoking creature, especially when she is pretty and attractive.

She would be adorable in a bathing suit, but she never swims—it is too much effort. She is urged to join the tennis party, but she never plays tennis—it is too fatiguing.

She declines to dance, as it is such a bore and leaves one so moist, and as for walking the dust renders that out of the question. She does nothing all day long so continually that it exhausts one to see her about. She reads and lolls and yawns till night comes, and to vary the programme next day she yawns, lolls and reads. Yet she is never able to talk of what she reads. Most of her conversation consists in wishing she were a great author, actor or artist. The lazy girl is always wishing and never doing. She is the most aggravating of all her species. Her sins of omission outweigh all the committed faults of all the summer girls. Among the many faults, one finds, too many virtues in the summer girl and shining acts of unselfishness.

Only today I saw one of the prettiest of the astonishingly pretty girls with which I am surrounded hard at work making a gown for a young lady who happened to find herself short in her wardrobe, and the mercury stood at 94 in the shade while she worked away to adorn a rival beauty.

And this same rival beauty I saw steal away from a group of admiring youths one day recently to help a lady perform some unromantic household tasks, and looking at these two lovely girls I thought that the passing of youth should not mean for them the fading of beauty, for the busy little spirits of unselfishness are at work chiseling for them a beautiful old age.

ELLA WHEELER WILCOX.

DRESS REFORM.

Isabella Proctor Makes a Plea For the Conventional Skirt.

It is curious to observe that whatever style of women's dress is in vogue there always arises a clique to clamor for some radical change in it which, if effected, will make the human race wiser, happier and better in every respect. No doubt Eve had not worn her fig leaf costume a week before Adam began to demonstrate to her that unless she changed its entire construction she was liable to sunstroke, ophthalmia and spinal curvature. The cry of "reform" has continued ever since with more or less vigor through all the contradictory phases of fashion, the kind of reform called for varying with each change of mode in order to be in opposition to the prevailing style.

If short dresses are worn, there must be a reform in the interests of womanliness and grace. If long gowns obtain, a reform must be instituted in favor of health and cleanliness. When skirts expand, statesmen shout for a reform that shall secure sufficient standing room for the nation. When they cling, the cry is still reform for the sake of modesty. By no ingenuity can fashion contrive a platform that reform is not anxious to knock from beneath her.

A year or two ago popular reform took the shape of a "business woman's dress," although why business women should be any readier than anybody else to ticket themselves by wearing a special style is not apparent. If a woman has herself and others to support, she has quite liminations enough created by her circumstances not to submit to an artificial restriction in so personal a matter as that of her wardrobe. The women most publicly in favor of a reformed attire for working women were ladies who themselves had little else to do except theorize in their drawing rooms. It did not seem to occur to them that their sisters less fortunately situated might object to adopting a class uniform which would accent the difference between them and the ladies of the field.

One of the oddest among the late freaks of reform is the trousers convention at Chicago—as if the gathering together of a few coquettish experimenters in costume could have any appreciable influence over women at large in making them sacrifice their own fancies and requirements in the way of dress. Trousers are convenient, but at their best they give a woman the look of a soubrette to their worst—that is, when she is middle aged and stout—they rob her of her mature dignity and render her a laughing stock. The grace and stateliness bestowed by flowing garments is universally recognized—witness the robes of office and church vestures worn by men. Although the latter adopt trousers as their ordinary dress, they can the better bear the severity of the attire that strength rather than beauty is their natural adornment. The skirt lends a dignity to woman's shorter stature and softer outlines that she can ill afford to lose, and she will probably continue to wear it despite the reformers, as long as she retains the aesthetic instincts and reserve which are characteristic of the majority of her sex.

The advocates of still another scheme of reform earnestly recommended the costume of their invention on the ground that it "completely concealed the form" without seeming to realize that their movement was retrograde instead of progressive. Why not at once declare in favor of the dress of the women of the harem, who never appear in public unless they are completely veiled from head to foot? In a land where women are admitted to have not only soul but intellect, and are therefore respected, there can be no possible reason for muffling the figure out of all semblance to womanhood, and reformers who are guilty by implication of such disrespect will never have a large following. Garments are worn for warmth and covering, and what beauty they possess is mainly borrowed from the body which they cover and which is the reason of their being. Conceal by drapery all indication of its shape, and movement and there remains merely a clumsy mass of cloth, devoid of meaning or individuality.

The absurdities and distortions of dress are greatly to be condemned as against the principles of hygiene, therefore against those of beauty, but it is no necessary to wear startling or hideous garments in order to be clothed healthfully. A woman of sense and artistic perception can dress conveniently and becomingly without departing so far from the reigning mode as to make herself conspicuous, and women will no doubt keep on exercising their own taste in the matter despite all the conventions that can be called by young and pretty enthusiasts.

HANDSOME DRIVING MARE.

The illustration, from a photograph, shows a beautiful mare which took the prize as a driving animal at the New York open air horse show.

This handsome creature is 5 years old and belongs to Colonel Lawrence Kip of New York. She is of average size, bay in color. Her owner says the points to be considered in a road horse are beauty, action, style, speed and intelligence. These the mare in the picture possesses in a high degree. She won the prize in the class for single drivers 4 years old and over. She has made a trial record of 2:22.

Management of a Boar.

Much the most common way is to let the boar run with the sows indiscriminately during the breeding season, but it is not the best way, nor is it best (although better) to have him shut in a pen or lot that is in sight of or alongside the inclosure where the sows are kept. So long as he is where the sows can be seen or come near, especially when any of them are in heat, he is constantly in a wearing, tearing fever of excitement, on his feet and using his energies and ingenuity to break out. At such times it requires a strong pen to keep him in place, and he should from the first be accustomed to one that there is no probability of his breaking down, for if he once discovers that by perseverance he can get away he is thenceforth doubly troublesome, and in some instances keeping him in place is almost an impossibility.

He should have a comfortable lot, large enough to permit plenty of exercise and some opportunity to root, a well sheltered, dry, sunny sleeping place and be given two or three times daily as much wholesome feed as he will clear up, and it should largely be something besides corn. Oats or rye, ground, with some wheat bran made into a slop, help along with some corn to make a feed that is healthful and a much better balanced ration in every way than is possible in any single article. Of course he is not to be deprived of as much fresh water as he wants, and I would season his slops with as liberal proportions of salt as I use in my own food, notwithstanding the belief held by so many men that "salt is pizen to a hog."

If a pan of wood ashes is thrown to him two or three times a week, he will pick out and eat the bits of charcoal in them with as much relish as the boy does raisins from a Christmas cake, and as a mild corrective drugs and "condition powders" are not to be compared to it. If his tusks become long or he shows a disposition to make trouble with them—which he may do with deadly effect at the most unlooked for moment—they can quite readily be wrenched off by getting a firm grip on them with a pair of blacksmith's pinchers or cut off with a fine saw.

It is a better way to turn a sow for service in with the boar than to take him among the other hogs. She should then be removed from his sight and hearing. As a rule I would prefer to use a boar not much less than a year old.

In most of the hog raising states it is scarcely prudent, owing to dangers of sudden cold and storms, to have pigs farrowed until the warm days toward the middle of April, so that about the middle of December—not earlier—is a favorable time for the breeding.

Sows that are being bred for the first time can as well be coupled a little later than old ones, because the old sow will usually carry her pigs from 112 to 115 days, while a gilt may farrow any time between 100 and 110 days after service. It is a common belief among many breeders that service of a sow at the beginning of heat will result in a large proportion of female pigs, and that if coupling is not done until the last hours of it more of the pigs will be males, but I have never been able to satisfy myself of its correctness.—Exchange.

Sheep and Swine at the World's Fair.

The sheep and hog show takes place between Sept. 26 and Oct. 14. There will be 1,347 hogs entered for premium, which is a larger number than any European fair could gather. Of sheep there will be 1,755. Canada sends 470 sheep and 90 hogs. One would hardly suppose there were so many breeds of sheep in this country till he glanced over the list of those to be exhibited. There are American Cotswolds, Leicesters, Lincolns, Southdowns, Shropshires, Oxford, Hampshires, Dorset Horned, Cheviot, Delaine Merino, and French Merinos, and just plain merinos without any prefix. These latter are divided into classes A and B. Class A includes merinos that have been bred for fleece alone; class B those bred for both fleece and mutton.

Horned.

At the Oklahoma station at Stillwater they are experimenting with a kerosene emulsion made by dissolving 3 ounces of soap in 3 pints of water and adding 14 pints kerosene. This mixture is agitated until an emulsion is formed and is then diluted to make three gallons. When this is sprayed upon the cattle, it keeps the hornflies away.

At the improvised tables were some remarkable people. The Princess de Leon was there, wearing an 1830 gown of royal purple cloth, richly trimmed with fine black and gold braid, sewn on in a palm leaf pattern and studded here and there by a tiny cut gold bead. She

DRESS GOODS AND CLOAKS:

These we handle in a larger way than any one in this section. We make it our study to find the latest fabrics and colors, and buying for cash, we always get the lowest prices. We sell for cash only and always give the best values possible. People will have new Dresses and Wraps—in fact, must have them. We have an unusually complete stock and prices are so low that you can buy now as easily as in flush times. We hope you will favor us with a visit.

Underwear

Is something we make a special leader of. We have just received 200 dozen ladies' and children's Underwear that we own very cheap. We have a really first-class, full sized line of ladies' ribbed Vests and Pants at 25c, better than any we ever had at 35c. We have six distinct styles of 50c Vests and Pants, all good, but suited to different tastes. Ladies' white and sanitary ribbed wool Vests and Pants at 75c, extra sizes at same price. Ladies' Union Suits at 75c, $1, $1.50 and $2. Infants' and Children's Underwear of every quality and size.

PEERLESS HOSE

Are still the best. We have sold them for seven years and can't find any better. Our ladies' 25c Peerless Hose at 40c have been heretofore 50c. Our present 50c Hose with spliced seams, heel and toe and others with white feet are beautiful qualities. We show a dozen lines of children's hose from 5 to 9 1/2 inch. See the extra heavy bicycle hose for boys at 15c pair.

CURTAINS

At prices at least 1/4 cheaper than last Spring. We are showing some very choice new patterns in Lace Curtains at $1, $1.50, $2 and $2.50 that we defy any one to match. Ruffled Muslin and Irish Point Curtains at reduced prices. Chenille Portieres with double border and fringed top and bottom at $1 each, better ones at $1.75, $2 $2.25 and $3. These are $1 apiece cheaper than last season.

Ladies' Shoes

we carry in all qualities from $1 to $5, but our specialty is high grade Shoes for the best trade. To hold this trade we have to have the best wearing, the neatest fitting and most stylish Shoes made. These we carry on B, C, D and E lasts, in dozens of styles from $3 to $5 a pair; when down don't fail to see our new Fall styles.

BLANKETS COMFORTS

Blankets from $1 pair for 10-4 white to the finest qualities at $18 a pair; we have a superior line of fine wool western made Blankets at $3.75 to $6 per pair that we specially recommend for service. Satine covered Eider Down Comforts only $4; cotton filled Comforts $1 to $2.25.

Sundries.

Sterling Silverware, Cut Glass, Toilet Soaps and Stationery we handle largely and sell at 35 to 50 per cent. under regular dealers' prices. Price these when next in our house and see what a difference there is in prices.

PERSONAL POINTS.

MISS ELLA MAY SANDERS is quite sick. MISS MARY T. GREEN is visiting in Perryville. MR. W. N. MORELAND was in Cincinnati this week.

MR. J. S. HUGHES is in Cincinnati, laying in dead loads of goods. MRS. W. M. LACKEY and Mrs. J. J. McRoberts went to Danville yesterday.

MISS NAN BAUGHMAN went to Danville Tuesday, from whence she expects to join a party to the World's Fair.

MRS. C. W. SWENNEY passed through to Lancaster Wednesday returning from the State W. C. T. U. at Owensboro.

MR. J. T. LYNN brought little Wray up from Louisville this week to spend several weeks with her grandma, Mrs. Mollie Wray.

MISS LIZZIE AND BLANCHE TWIDWELL, of Hustonville, were down Wednesday settling some fiduciary matters before Judge Varnon.

MRS. J. S. KIRKENDRICK, Mrs. J. W. Alcorn, Mrs. J. W. Hayden and Misses Annie and Kate Alcorn left yesterday morning for the World's Fair.

MRS. MARY DUNN, of Louisville, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Huffman, Dr. L. F. Huffman and Charley Huffman, of Lexington, attended the funeral of Leslie Wilson.

MR. EASTMAN TARRANT was here yesterday returning from Garrard and Madison getting data for the book he is writing on the services of Gen. Wolford's command.

MISS JENNIE MCKINNEY went to Perryville Wednesday, where she was to play the march at the wedding of her friend, Miss Haidee Green to Mr. Will Moore at 7:30 last night.

MESSRS. J. A. R. A. AND J. G. BURNSIDE went to Louisville Wednesday to sell their tobacco. They say Garrard has housed one of the largest and best crops it has ever raised.

DR. J. B. OWSELEY, of this place, is urged by the directory of the Kentucky National Bank at Louisville to accept the presidency. It is suspended during the panic, but is ready to resume.

JUDGE T. Z. MORROW was on yesterday's train returning to Somerset from his court at Mt. Vernon. He barely had time to sentence the negroes who killed the peddler, for life, and catch the train, after the verdict was rendered.

WALKER MARON left Tuesday for Madison county where he will spend some weeks visiting his mother and having a good time generally. — Williamsburg Times. And that accounts for the absence of our regular letter from that mountain city.

THE new iron bridge over Dix River on the Lancaster pike is now ready for travel and President D. W. Vandever says it is the best one ever put up in this section.

MESSRS. SINE & MENEFEE have secured the contract for the building of the Presbyterian Parsonage at Danville for $3,000 over all the local bidders. Raney & Allen will likely do the work.

REUNION.—Dr. E. G. Dick, who was here Wednesday, tells us that there will be a reunion of all the Keeleyites in Kentucky at Crab Orchard Springs Oct. 17th and 18th, when a programme will be arranged for the greatest enjoyment. There will be speeches, music and banqueting and nothing will be left undone to make the occasion a memorable one.

Gov. McCREARY has had W. C. Surber appointed postmaster at Junction City, although A. C. Dunn's term would not have expired till March 31, 1894. As the men are partners in business, the change is only from the republican to the democratic member of the firm. A. K. Lackey was appointed post master at Paint Lick, also at the instance of the governor.

THEY have some bright policemen in Danville. The ancient and chesnutty performance of a tight rope walker who introduces his part by appearing in the crowd dressed roughly and carrying apparently a well developed jag was worked in the usual manner. Cain and Abel used to laugh at the business but the two verdant coppers had never heard of it before, and thinking the man was sure enough drunk, they actually arrested him and refused for a time to release him, even at the solicitation of the showmen.

WALTON'S Opera House will be opened for the season Saturday evening, Oct. 7th, by the "Heywood Celebrities," the bright lights of Opera, Comedy and Concert and an evening of genuine enjoyment to lovers of fine music is assured. The management gives the company a large guarantee in order to induce it to come here, and it is hoped that our citizens will appreciate the effort to bring only first-class attractions. The press and public are loud in praise of the company, this from the Ashland Daily News being a fair sample of comment: "The Heywood Celebrities were far superior to anything of the kind ever seen in this city, being refined, varied, bright and humorous."

NOT GOING TO DIE.—The fellow Bill Stamper, who raised the row at Dripping Springs, is not mortally wounded and wouldn't be, so a Crab Orchard man tells us, if his head was cut off, unless it was hid where he couldn't find it. It is hard to kill such creatures as he. He was shot in the chin, breaking his jaw bone, when he dropped his pistol, caught both hands to the wound and blubbering like a calf, struck out at a double quick gait. As he did so Slaughter let go at him and the ball struck him in the back, making only a flesh wound. We speak by the card when we say Bill is not going to die. The devil has further work for him to do and the hangman may get a job.

COL. D. G. SLAUGHTER died Monday night of the wounds received in the desperate battle at Dripping Springs the Saturday before, an account of which has already been published. The funeral sermon was preached at the Christian church, Crab Orchard, by Eld. J. G. Livingston Tuesday to a very large assemblage of persons who had gathered to pay the last tribute of respect. Though high tempered and ever ready to resent an insult, Col. Slaughter was a warm hearted man and did much good in his way, by helping those who needed it most. His blunt and rather over bearing manners were the result of a long stay in the West, in his youth, where he followed the fortunes of a cow boy. He is said to have killed two men besides the one who killed him. They were negroes and in both cases he proved that he had acted in self defense and was acquitted. His energy and enterprise was unbounded and believing in printer's ink as the best aid in business, he was a liberal patron of this office, which was rarely a week at a time without a job for him. He used to take a pride in saying that he was the grandson of the only Kentucky governor who ever held two terms. His wife was a Miss Stevens, of Madison, and she and six children survive him. Several years ago he professed religion under Bro. Barnes' preaching and for some time after preached some himself, holding services at Mt. Tabor, in Garrard county. Eccentric to a marked degree, he made but few warm friends, but those who know him best say that he was honorable and fair in his dealings and lived as near the right as he saw it with the lights before him.

THE Weather Bureau telegraphed last evening that Friday would be fair, with rising temperature.

THE ruins of the Nunnelle stable continuing to burn and smoke the fire company was called out yesterday and given a little practice, when there was no danger or excitement, and they soon had it deluged.

ANDY HAYS, son of Brent Hays, of the "Grand Army of Republicans," was held in $300 bail yesterday to answer the charge of stealing a pistol from C. D. Powell's store. He couldn't give it so he was locked up.

THE frost came as predicted, but it was not sufficiently heavy to do any damage of consequence. The sudden change made thick clothing and fires a necessity though, and many a grate and stove were put to work.

DR. CARPENTER handed in an article yesterday advocating the sale of the poor-house property and buying a fertile farm near Stanford, which could be made self-supporting. He also advocates the addition of rooms for hospital purposes and sustains it with good arguments. We agree with the doctor in the main and would have published his communication had it not been so long and been handed in sooner.

THE World's Fair excursion train of seven cars passed yesterday with a beggarly array of empty seats. Conductor Delph said there were only 40 passengers aboard, 17 from Middlesboro. Only one got on here for the fair, Rev. John Bell Gibson, but several others, including Mrs. Frank Harris and Albert went to Louisville on it. Mr. W. W. Penn says another and a last excursion will run on the 19th of October.

THE shopmen's strike on the L. & N. continues and the strikers are holding firm. The company claims, however, to have a sufficient number of men to do all the work necessary and expresses confidence of ultimate victory. At some points injunctions were taken out against the strikers going on the company's property to persuade men to quit work. The shopmen say they are in for the war and that if the company does not surrender the entire train force will join them.

G. T. ARNOLD, commissary sergeant of the McCreary Guards, got back from the Cherokee Strip yesterday, where he salted a good claim South of the Chacalia river. He had on his soldier clothes which he said were worth $500 to him as he was taken for a Federal soldier and every where respected. In the town of Perry, he tells us, from three to five soldiers bite the dust each night and times are almost as lively in that direction as in some parts of Kentucky.

COLLISION.—A we go to press the wires bring news of a collision in Tunnel No. 7, of passenger train No. 23 and freight No. 30. Two men, Ryan, fireman on 23 and the express messenger, are reported killed and Engineer Pearce had his leg broken. The company's surgeon, Dr. J. F. Peyton, was telegraphed to come to the scene on a special engine. The wreck occurred at 4 o'clock and being remote from a telegraph office we could get no further particulars.

SELECTIONS

THE FRENCH CANAL MANIA.

Our Republican Friends Looking About For Fresh Isthmuses to Bisection.

Now that the Corinth canal, begun under the reign of the Roman Caesar Nero nearly 2,000 years ago, has finally been brought to a successful completion our French friends are looking about for some other isthmus to bisection, with the object of retaining the pre-eminence in that particular form of enterprise which they achieved when they constructed the Suez canal. Their ambition in this direction is on the eve of bringing them once more into conflict with the English and of adding another acute complication to the so called Siamese question. It seems that among the demands made upon the Bangkok government by the new French envoy, M. le Myre de Vilers, is one for the concession of a strip of land right across the Siamese portion of the Malay peninsula to a Parisian syndicate headed by a M. Deloncle for the purpose of piercing the isthmus with a canal.

At first sight the scheme seems worthy of the warmest commendation, since a waterway of this kind would relieve shipping bound eastward for Chinese, Japanese and Tonginese ports from the necessity of the tedious and dangerous passage through the straits of Malacca and of rounding Cape Roman. That it would considerably abbreviate the route to Saigon, Hong-Kong, Shanghai and Yokohama it is impossible to deny. But in the eyes of the English it involves not only serious damage to the prosperity of the great British port of Singapore, but would also cut the latter off from communication by land with British Burma and India.

A French canal across the isthmus would, moreover, render impossible the completion of the railroad which is to place Calcutta and Rangoon in connection with England's biggest coaling station and greatest strategic position in the east—one upon the defenses of which a vast amount of British money has been expended. Besides this, it would give to France that which both the London and Peking governments seem firmly determined at all costs to prevent—namely, a foothold in the part of Siam lying west of the Mekong, which would lead to a gradual absorption of the entire kingdom by the French.

In her objections to the projected French canal across the Malay peninsula Great Britain is sustained by China, to whose emperors Siam has paid tribute for at least six centuries, and she consequently regards Siam in the light of a vassal state. The richest and most prosperous moiety of the population of Siam is Chinese, the latter controlling almost the whole of the domestic trade. That the Chinese government has at heart the interests of its subjects established in Siam, and that it is determined to prevent the annexation by France of the vassal kingdom which the Chinese emperor has described as his "happy state in the south," is manifest from the active negotiations now in progress between the Chinese Bismarck, Li Hung Chang, and envoys from the king of Siam, and according to present appearances, the issue of the Siamese question will be decided neither at Bangkok, at Paris, nor yet at London, but in Tientsin.—New York Tribune.

The Collector Didn't Scare.

A man residing in a cabin near Mahoney's boiler works has fallen upon a novel scheme for keeping his creditors away from him, yet it does not always work. The man in question has a family and evidently believes in providing the necessities of life for it. A few days ago he went up to a store at Centerville, and with a face the very picture of innocence stated that he was a painter by occupation and received his salary weekly; that he wanted $18 worth of groceries on the spot, but could not pay for them until pay day. The goods were furnished, and the man went on his way rejoicing.

Monday was "pay day" for him, and the next day one of the firm made out a bill and went after the $18. As he approached the cabin in which "old smoothy" was living fat off the goods he noticed a large sign, "Scarlet Fever," sticking above the door. The sign made no difference to the collector. He moved up close to the entrance and was not seen by the inmates until within a few feet thereof. The entire family, consisting of a man, woman and child, were in the front room, but as soon as they saw the collector the man ran into the rear room and hid. He was called out, however, and compelled to acknowledge that he was broke, and that the scarlet fever sign was simply a ruse to prevent people whom he owed from bothering him.—Butte Miner.

Will a Tree Live Forever?

What do you think of the idea advanced by some prominent botanist that a tree, providing it meets with no accident, will live forever? De Candolle, an eminent French authority, says, "Trees are not subject to death, and barring accidents and ravages of insects will continue to live on indefinitely." Gray, the noted botanist, also indorses the theory that, inasmuch as trees annually renew their youth, they are virtually immortal. His exact language is as follows: "The old central part of the trunk may decay, but this is of little moment so long as new layers are regularly formed at the circumference. The tree survives, and it would be difficult for science to show that it is liable to death from old age in any proper sense of that term."—St. Louis Republic.

London Marriage Hours.

The London time for getting married has now been extended to 3 p. m. It used to be up to noon, but the extension was recently made by act of parliament.—London Times.

BRODHEAD.

—Mr. J. W. Tate will have his new dwelling finished in a few days.
 —There is a wedding expected in our town next Friday, but can not give the names yet.
 —Mrs. Thomas Cherry returned on the 24th from a two-week's visit to Cincinnati and Rowland.

—The Rockcastle Association will convene at Freedom church 5 miles south west of this place, next Tuesday.
 —The diphtheria scare in our town is about over. All the last reported patients have gotten well.

—The P. M. of this place was summoned home Friday from Gilead church to look after the burglary of his post-office, an account of which you published. There is no clue to the robbers, but it is thought they live near Brodhead.

—Sam Roberts, of this place, got too much bug juice Tuesday and was trying to raise sand with almost every one he met. He struck at David Harrison with his knife, cutting a small gash on his hand. He was finally arrested and turned over by the court to Perry Rigby to be returned next Friday for trial.

—Mrs. George Reese was murdered and her husband seriously beaten near Pittsburg, Pa., by a band of men and women favoring anarchy. Mr. Reese and wife were very strong opponents of that cause.

—In a row among gamblers at Millersburg 50 shots were fired. Tom Higgins shot Hollyback Williams in the leg and shoulder and Williams shot Higgins in the leg. George Fogarty fractured Bill Nichols' skull with a stone and Nichols cut Fogarty in the neck with a razor. Nichols will die and Higgins' leg will be amputated. Williams also may die.

—A tramp in the gallery of the Chicago Board of Trade fired several shots into the crowd in the grain pit. Several of Middleboro, but the chronicler of local affairs very candidly states that it is caused by people who are leaving. This thing of shivering even in the shadow of approaching prosperity that never arrives grows monotonous in the lapse of years.—Louisville Times.

THE Q. & C. and L. S. will run a World's Fair excursion from stations North of Somerset and East of Lawrenceburg, Oct. 5th, going via Cincinnati and the Big Four, at the lowest rates of the season. Call on agents or write to W. C. Rineason, G. P. A., Cincinnati, for further particulars.

THROUGH SLEEPING CARS

VIA BIG FOUR ROUTE TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

We all love comfort, especially when traveling, and what a great comfort it is to be able to take a sleeping car at your own home which runs right through to Chicago without change and lands passengers at the entrance gate of the great World's Fair without a single change or transfer of any kind. How can this be accomplished? Why simply by asking your local agent for a ticket via the Big Four Route, which is absolutely the only line running through sleeping cars in connection with the E. T. V. & G. Railway and Queen & Crescent Route direct to the World's Fair Grounds and landing passengers convenient to the World's Fair Hotel District. Through Sleeping Car leaves Macon 11:15 a. m., Atlanta 2:10 p. m., Rome 4:55 p. m., Chattanooga 7:25 p. m., and arrives at Chicago 5:15 p. m. Ask for tickets via Big Four Route and for further information address D. B. Martin, General Passenger Agent, Cincinnati.

SELECTIONS

THE FRENCH CANAL MANIA.

Our Republican Friends Looking About For Fresh Isthmuses to Biseet.

Now that the Corinth canal, begun under the reign of the Roman Caesar Nero nearly 2,000 years ago, has finally been brought to a successful completion our French friends are looking about for some other isthmus to biseet, with the object of retaining the pre-eminence in that particular form of enterprise which they achieved when they constructed the Suez canal. Their ambition in this direction is on the eve of bringing them once more into conflict with the English and of adding another acute complication to the so-called Siamese question.

It seems that among the demands made upon the Bangkok government by the new French envoy, M. le Myre de Vilers, is one for the concession of a strip of land right across the Siamese portion of the Malay peninsula to a Parisian syndicate headed by a M. Deloncle for the purpose of piercing the isthmus with a canal.

At first sight the scheme seems worthy of the warmest commendation, since a waterway of this kind would relieve shipping bound eastward for Chinese, Japanese and Tonquinese ports from the necessity of the tedious and dangerous passage through the straits of Malacca and of rounding Cape Roman.

That it would considerably abbreviate the route to Saigon, Hong-Kong, Shanghai and Yokohama it is impossible to deny. But in the eyes of the English it involves not only serious damage to the prosperity of the great British port of Singapore, but would also cut the latter off from communication by land with British Burma and India.

A French canal across the isthmus would, moreover, render impossible the completion of the railroad which is to place Calcutta and Rangoon in connection with England's biggest coaling station and greatest strategic position in the east—one upon the defenses of which a vast amount of British money has been expended. Besides this, it would give to France that which both the London and Peking governments seem firmly determined at all costs to prevent—namely, a foothold in the part of Siam lying west of the Mekong, which would lead to a gradual absorption of the entire kingdom by the French.

In her objections to the projected French canal across the Malay peninsula Great Britain is sustained by China, to whose emperors Siam has paid tribute for at least six centuries, and she consequently regards Siam in the light of a vassal state. The richest and most prosperous society of the population of Siam is Chinese, the latter controlling almost the whole of the domestic trade.

That the Chinese government has at heart the interests of its subjects established in Siam, and that it is determined to prevent the annexation by France of the vassal kingdom which the Chinese emperor has described as his "happy state in the south," is manifest from the active negotiations now in progress between the Chinese Bismarck, Li Hung Chang, and envoys from the king of Siam, and, according to present appearances, the issue of the Siamese question will be decided neither at Bangkok, at Paris, nor yet at London, but in Tientsin.—New York Tribune.

The Collector Didn't Scare.

A man residing in a cabin near Mahoney's boiler works has fallen upon a novel scheme for keeping his creditors away from him, yet it does not always work. The man in question has a family and evidently believes in providing the necessities of life for it. A few days ago he went up to a store at Centerville, and with a face the very picture of innocence stated that he was a painter by occupation and received his salary weekly; that he wanted $18 worth of groceries on the spot, but could not pay for them until pay day. The goods were furnished, and the man went on his way rejoicing.

Monday was "pay day" for him, and the next day one of the firm made out a bill and went after the $18. As he approached the cabin in which "old smoothy" was living fat off the goods he noticed a large sign, "Scarlet Fever," sticking above the door. The sign made no difference to the collector. He moved up close to the entrance and was not seen by the inmates until within a few feet thereof. The entire family, consisting of a man, woman and child, were in the front room, but as soon as they saw the collector the man ran into the rear room and hid. He was called out, however, and compelled to acknowledge that he was broke, and that the scarlet fever sign was simply a ruse to prevent people whom he owed from bothering him.—Butte Miner.

Will a Tree Live Forever?

What do you think of the idea advanced by some prominent botanist that a tree, providing it meets with no accident, will live forever? De Candolle, an eminent French authority, says, "Trees are not subject to death, and barring accidents and ravages of insects will continue to live on indefinitely." Gray, the noted botanist, also indorses the theory that, inasmuch as trees annually renew their youth, they are virtually immortal. His exact language is as follows: "The old central part of the trunk may decay, but this is of little moment so long as new layers are regularly formed at the circumference. The tree survives, and it would be difficult for science to show that it is liable to death from old age in any proper sense of that term."—St. Louis Republic.

London Marriage Hours.

BRODHEAD.

—Mr. J. W. Tate will have his new dwelling finished in a few days.

—There is a wedding expected in our town next Friday, but can not give the names yet.

—Mrs. Thomas Cherry returned on the 24th from a two-week's visit to Cincinnati and Rowland.

—The Rockcastle Association will convene at Freedom church 5 miles south west of this place, next Tuesday.

—The diphtheria scare in our town is about over. All the last reported patients have gotten well.

—The P. M. of this place was summoned home Friday from Gilead church to look after the burglary of his post-office, an account of which you published. There is no clue to the robbers, but it is thought they live near Brodhead.

—Sam Roberts, of this place, got too much bug juice Tuesday and was trying to raise sand with almost every one he met. He struck at David Harrison with his knife, cutting a small gash on his hand. He was finally arrested and turned over by the court to Perry Rigby to be returned next Friday for trial.

—Mrs. George Reese was murdered and her husband seriously beaten near Pittsburgh, Pa., by a band of men and women favoring anarchy. Mr. Reese and wife were very strong opponents of that cause.

—In a row among gamblers at Millersburg 50 shots were fired. Tom Higgins shot Hollyback Williams in the leg and shoulder and Williams shot Higgins in the leg. George Fogarty fractured Bill Nichols' skull with a stone and Nichols cut Fogarty in the neck with a razor. Nichols will die and Higgins' leg will be amputated. Williams also may die.

—A tramp in the gallery of the Chicago Board of Trade fired several shots into the crowd in the grain pit. Several of Middleboro, but the chronicler of local affairs very candidly states that it is caused by people who are leaving. This thing of shivering even in the shadow of approaching prosperity that never arrives grows monotonous in the lapse of years.—Louisville Times.

The Q. & C. and L. S. will run a World's Fair excursion from stations North of Somerset and East of Lawrenceburg, Oct. 5th, going via Cincinnati and the Big Four, at the lowest rates of the season. Call on agents or write to W. C. Rinearson, G. P. A., Cincinnati, for further particulars.

THROUGH SLEEPING CARS

VIA BIG FOUR ROUTE TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

We all love comfort, especially when traveling, and what a great comfort it is to be able to take a sleeping car at your own home which runs right through to Chicago without change and lands passengers at the entrance gate of the great World's Fair without a single change or transfer of any kind. How can this be accomplished? Why simply by asking your local agent for a ticket via the Big Four Route, which is absolutely the only line running through sleeping cars in connection with the E. T. V. & G. Railway and Queen & Crescent Route direct to the World's Fair Grounds and landing passengers convenient to the World's Fair Hotel District. Through Sleeping Car leaves Macon 11:15 a. m., Atlanta 2:10 p. m., Rome 4:55 p. m., Chattanooga 7:25 p. m., and arrives at Chicago 5:15 p. m. Ask for tickets via Big Four Route and for further information address D. B. Martin, General Passenger Agent, Cincinnati.
